Whenever people hear about me using poker in virtual team events, I usually get one of two reactions:

ever take a seat at the virtual poker table with my "team"?

This post is about achieving some clarity and new perspectives, especially for group number 2 (thou) Tj T* BT /

Now, playing poker in teams can indeed support team building in several ways.

When I talk about playing in teams, I'm referring to the so-called Team-Poker-Concept, where people don't play by themselves BUT in groups of usually 2 or 3 "people". This concept was a gift from Corona, as the pandemic forced me to either give up using poker as a team-building method or find a way to transfer the intense experience in the virtual environment.

Here are 8 things your team can win at the poker table using the Team-Poker-Concept Communication: Playing poker in small teams requires players to communicate effectively with each other . In team poker, players need to share information, discuss strategies, and make decisions collectively. This turns the traditional approach of playing just by yourself upside down and as a result fosters better communication skills within the "team", as members learn to express their thoughts clearly and listen to others perspectives. Otherwise, the chance of success drops significantly. Like in business! Trust and Collaborat ion: Trust is the most valuable resource you have in your team. And it's crucial i n team poker as well. Why?

Because players must rely on each other's judgments and actions. Colla borative decision-making becomes essential, as team members need to work together to maximize their chances of winning. Playing poker as a team encourages trust-building activities and helps team members understand each other's strengths and weaknesses. And believe
