Odds show how much money you will win, if you bet on an event to happen. The higher the odds are, the more you will win relative to your stake!

Low odds = lower risk, high chance of winning. High odds = higher risk, lower chance of winning.

Example: If you bet $10 on odds of 2.00 and win, you receive $20 (your $10 stake plus $10 profit).

Example: If you bet $10 on odds of 5.00 and win, you receive $50 (your $10 stake plus $40 profit).

Example: If you bet $10 on odds of 1.50 and win, you receive $15 (your $10 stake plus $5 profit).

Example: If you bet $10 on odds of 1.20 and win, you receive $12 (your $10 stake plus $2 profit).

Example: If you bet $10 on odds of 1.10 and win, you receive $11 (your $10 stake plus $1 profit).
